Ask him anything about the Reserve’s reptiles, birds, mammals, or the more than 70 endemic species of flora and fauna.

“For me, the beauty of Four Seasons Resort Tamarindo lies in the vast landscape and undiscovered natural reserve that it sits within, where there are more animal footpaths than there are human. When I take groups out at night to explore the jungle and the many creatures within it, I always know that we’re going to find something, I just don’t ever know what it will be.”

PAVEL KIRILOV & NATALIA KORIAKINA

NATURE EXPLORERS

A teacher by training and an insect expert by passion, Pavel holds a Ph.D. in Psychology of Education and has taught several Biology and Environmental Science classes throughout his career. His love for educating shines through in every bit of knowledge he shares about the tiny insect universe that populates the reserve, providing equal amounts of scientific knowledge and fun facts, opening a world of exploration. His wife Natalia Koriakina, also a Ph.D., is his partner in all of his adventures.

As a Tamarindo resident, Pavel has turned his hobby of observing insects in their natural habitat into a unique adventure meant to spark curiosity. He has aptly named one of his most popular adventures the Small Wonders Safari, as groups will leave with a newfound respect for those creatures who we all know exist but we don’t often get the chance to experience up close.

HUGO MARTÍNEZ

The water that bathes the coasts of Tamarindo runs through Hugo's veins. As a fisherman in La Manzanilla from a young age, his family of artisanal fishermen has navigated these waters for generations. Hugo's deep knowledge about the coast and the species that live within it, in addition to his extraordinary talent as a diver, has made him a main character in the culinary story at Four Seasons Resort Tamarindo.

Each morning, Hugo puts on his diving suit, boards his kayak, and takes off from Playa Majahua to explore the coast, ready for the ocean to surprise him. More than a fisherman, he carefully selects each shellfish he pulls out of the ocean, mindful to not cause an imbalance in the ecosystem. To Hugo, there is no greater privilege than working in the water, sharing the gifts he finds below the waves, and sharing that passion with guests.

*"You can't describe the ocean's bounty with words.
Everything within it has purpose and is truly divine."*

Cecilia Salcedo (Oaxaca): Ethnobotanic printing

Arte Kuu (Nayarit): Wixarika jewelry

Saasil Artesanos (Colima): Woven furniture and accessories

Origen Textil (Oaxaca): Natural dyes

Raíz MX (Mexico City): Clay work

“This workshop is meant to be a joint venture, a true collaboration between nature and each participant, allowing everyone to experience the reserve in their own unique way and take with them a small but meaningful piece of it.”

CECILIA SALCEDO

ECOPRINT DESIGNER

For more than three decades, Cecilia has dedicated herself to photography. Over the past few years, nature and vegetation have caught her eye and in 2020, Cecilia found eco-print, an ancient technique that allows plants and flowers to leave their mark on fabric thanks to their natural pigments.

Inspired by the reserve’s rich biodiversity, Cecilia leads groups on a creative journey, inviting each person to look even more closely at the beauty surrounding them and to find the origins within nature’s work of art. Together, groups will choose plants to use for an eco-print, the result being an authentic living souvenir from Tamarindo.

“The relationship between everyone involved in this project and the intentional choosing of Mexican talent has been incredible. Tamarindo has changed all of our lives.”

REGINA GUTIÉRREZ ELIZONDO

INTERIOR DESIGNER

From guest rooms to the lobby, every accessory, piece of furniture, or hand-woven textile was thoughtfully chosen for the Resort, thanks to the sensibility and creativity of Regina and our talented design team. As part of Uribe Kraye studio, and later as an independent designer, Regina has long been involved in the beauty behind the Resort’s interior design.

As you step into your room, you will notice some of Regina’s favorite elements, such as the Olinalá panels that decorate the walls, each of them hand-made in the Guerrero town that gives them their name. For Regina, the biggest triumph is that the story behind every piece –where it comes from, the talent of its creator– remains in Tamarindo long after the architects and designers have left.

LUIS GUAGNELLI

ARCHITECT

As part of the LegoRocha studio team of architects, Luis Guagnelli knows the story behind every stone wall, every hallway, and every corner of Four Seasons Resort Tamarindo. To Luis, the decade-long construction project was an “intergalactic journey,” challenging the team of architects to develop a project in the reserve’s complex terrain, where the beach, the jungle, and the mountains come together. As they designed each building, they considered the flora and fauna that have called the reserve home for centuries, allowing them to thrive naturally as the Resort began to take shape.

Architecture is a bond for Luis. Each material element allows for intangible experiences to take place, whether it’s a ray of sunlight hitting a wall in the afternoon, the cool breeze running through a hallway, or the sound of the waves traveling from the beach. Sharing these indescribable experiences with Luis will bring you closer to the unique creative vision behind our Resort’s architectural design.

“I was asked to describe this project in one word. I would say Four Seasons Resort Tamarindo is a sanctuary.”

JORGE BERMÚDEZ

WELLNESS GURU

Sports and movement have been part of Jorge’s life for as long as he can remember, just like his love for the outdoors. When an injury forced him to change his routine, he became more interested in exploring holistic approaches to wellness through yoga and meditation.

Jorge’s extensive background in sports, yoga, and meditation makes him the perfect wellness guide to help visitors focus on finding physical, mental, and spiritual balance during their stay at Tamarindo. Whether it’s a serene spa treatment, a spiritual meditation, a Pilates class, or a visit to our temazcal, each unique wellness offering can be personally curated and will leave everyone with a sense of fulfillment and greater self-awareness than they had before they arrived.

GOLF

“Playing in El Tamarindo gives me a sense of tranquility and relaxation. When you are out there, it’s just you, nature, and your golf clubs.”

LEO CASTRO

DIRECTOR OF GOLF & WELLNESS

California-born Leo has been a sportsman since his youth, a talent that came in handy when he began his career overlooking health and wellness projects. After a period at the renowned Beverly Wilshire, A Four Seasons Hotel, he landed in Tamarindo to embark on the mission of a lifetime. As Director of Golf & Wellness, Leo is in charge of our Four Seasons Spa and our temazcal, custom-made for Tamarindo by shamans who will lead our groups in healing ceremonies.

The stunning El Tamarindo Golf Course is also under Leo’s leadership. Open since 1996, the legendary course places players among the jungle and its inhabitants, a feature that Leo finds endlessly fascinating. When he has finished working in the afternoon, Leo loves to head out to the course and play a few holes, an experience he finds grounding and relaxing. Look for him on hole #3, his favorite due to an elevated green that grants a refreshing new perspective of the Resort and the reserve.

GOLF

Designed by celebrated golf architect David Fleming, El Tamarindo offers 18 holes of links-style play, weaving through tropical jungle along the rocky Pacific coastline. Each hole on this 6,682-yard, par-72 course offers its own unique challenges. Nine holes feature ocean views of extraordinary beauty.

TAKE TAMARINDO
HOME

From our spectacular architecture to the artwork you can find in guest rooms and public areas, every aspect of Four Seasons Resort Tamarindo's design is a celebration of Mexican talent. We view Mexican crafts as a highly valuable expression of our country's history and culture, and we have designed a corporate gifting program that reflects this vision. Through our partnership with philanthropic organizations Taller Maya and Ensemble Artesano, led by Mariana Poo, you can choose a beautiful handcrafted piece that will allow your group to stay connected to Tamarindo and Mexico's rich heritage.

Ask your Four Seasons Event Planner about

“What I like best about my work and the opportunity I’ve had to work with Four Seasons Resort Tamarindo is that our partnership benefits a large group of producers and artisans, and we are inviting guests to find joy in works of art they might not have had the chance to experience otherwise.”

MARIANA POO

MARKET ACCESS LEADER AT FUNDACIÓN HACIENDAS DEL MUNDO MAYA

Connecting local artisans and creators with Four Seasons Resort Tamarindo, infusing its spaces with the spirit and authenticity of Mexican crafts, has been a great source of inspiration and joy for Mariana, whose passion for culture inspires her daily work. Her guiding light and main goal is to find market access for producers and artisans in local communities, and after months of hard work by Mariana and her team, the Resort proudly features dozens of artisan pieces.

Mariana also oversees Almanaque Natural, the boutique at Tamarindo, where one can find gorgeous, unique pieces from Ensemble Artesano and Taller Maya, two of the foundation’s partnering organizations.

A SUSTAINABLE VISION

With a 3,000-acre natural reserve as our home, our actions are fueled by a deep commitment to preserving the environment. As home to more than 70 endemic flora species, as well as mammals, birds, reptiles, and amphibians, this reserve is a constant reminder of nature's unmeasurable beauty and power. We are grateful to share a slice of this paradise and seek to make our presence as positive as possible, which is why only 2% of its terrain will be developed.

GROUP EXPERIENCES

Our programming is an exceptional reflection of this goal, with activities that invite groups to delve into local culture and appreciate our natural surroundings. Led by our team of experts, you can hike among trees, embark on bird-watching adventures, or head to our Discovery Center to learn more about this corner of the Mexican Pacific.

ENVIROMENTAL ACTIONS

Our landscaping program is water-efficient, making the best use of this valuable resource. We have two water bottling and filtration plants on site, allowing us to provide clean, fresh water to our guests. When it comes to laundry, we wash guests' linens every third day unless otherwise requested.

We are proud to have eliminated single-use plastics, including water bottles and room amenities. Our guest rooms also feature energy-saving controls, using smart technology.

Protecting the ocean is one of our priorities, which is why our team conducts frequent beach clean-ups and releases sea turtles during the nesting season. Thanks to our partnership with the local fishing cooperative of La Manzanilla and our on-site diver, Hugo Martínez, we can serve responsibly sourced fish and seafood to our guests.

This same philosophy informs the experience at Rancho Ortega, our on-site farm and the heart of our culinary program. Here, we grow fruits, vegetables, and mushrooms that become part of our seasonal and local menus. At the ranch, we use organic food waste to feed our pigs – who share a home here with goats, ducks, and chickens – and compost the rest of the food waste to use in our fields and gardens.

THE CHAIN GROWS

Every group who visits Four Seasons Resort Tamarindo becomes a member of our family and, by extension, of the community as well. We offer an array of activities for groups to engage with locals, including painting schools and maintaining soccer fields, inviting them to open a dialogue with those who live in the surrounding area and learn about their interests and dreams. Most of all, these activities create incredible bonding opportunities for groups, allowing them to leave a positive impact on the region and to go back home with an impactful memory.
